Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, the claimed “the lens barrel component” lacks proper antecedent basis in the claim. Additionally the use of the term “the component” is confusing as it is not clear whether applicant is referring to “the lens barrel component” previously recited.

The claim limitation “a spring assembly configured to ... overcome the resilient holding of the holder at said aligned position” renders the claims indefinite. The only “resilient holding” set forth in claim 1 is that provided by the “spring assembly.” Clearly the spring assembly cannot overcome its own resilient holding. Claim 10 does set forth a further spring element but does not clarify the indefiniteness of claim 1.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 18-29 are allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:
The prior art does not disclose or suggest "a torsion spring supported on said pivot and configured to be rotatable together with said swingable holder about said pivot, wherein at least one end of said torsion spring comprises a movable spring end which extends in a radial direction of said pivot and is resiliently deformable in a direction of rotation of said swingable holder about said pivot" in combination with the remaining claim elements as set forth in claims 18-29.
